Dear _____ Date _____

At school, we have been talking about Sara and Dominic's new life together, and their exciting news — they are expecting a baby. Here is what we have been learning:

Becoming Parents

- After they are married, a mother and father may make a new life together.
- Married people may share their love in a special way by becoming parents.
- When a husband and wife cannot have children, they can decide to adopt a baby. Adoption is another way of becoming parents.

Let's talk about this list together. Is there anything we should add to the list?
