

Dear _____ Date _____

In school, we have been talking about the people of the world and how they live differently than we do, but are also like us in so many ways. Here is what we have been learning.

All Over the World

- All people have feelings, need to love and be loved, and to feel and know they belong.
- All over the world, people are born and are welcomed.
- All over the world people die, and those who know and love them have to learn how to say goodbye.
- God knows each person in the world by name.

Let's talk about this list together. Is there anything we should add to the list?
